Everyone at Holdite would like to thank you for your support during this tough, challenging but interesting year.

Holdite would like to advise that our manufacturing factory and sales office will both close on Friday 20th December. Our sales office will reopen on Monday January 6th 2014 whilst the factory will recommence production on Monday 20th January.

Have a great Christmas, a happy New Year, drive safely and come back refreshed to face another year with one or two surprises waiting for all of us.

OLD STOCK WE WISH TO QUIT

You will be pleased to know that we have managed to sell all of our zinc plated washers. All we have left are a few lines of assorted stainless steel nuts. Below are some of those lines with quantities but no price. You know what your costs are so make us an offer for what you would like to pay. You can bid for as many or as few lines as you like. Offer closes Wednesday 18th December. We will invoice any stainless sold in February 2014. If you would like to see the full list just email roger.lennard@holdite.com.au

We have received a complaint or two about the cartoons. "They are too realistic", "The truth hurts" and "Can we have something just as funny but unrelated to take our minds off reality"

Sorry for any pain caused, we hope the Santa Claus cartoon offers some relief. For the rest of us who don't mind a rueful look at our own industry

1st ASHES TIPPING COMPETITION

After a close first day the first test turned out to be a one-sided affair with Australia and in particular Mitchell Johnson dominating the game. Pietersen the centre of our tipping competition did not trouble the scorers too much scoring only 18 in the first innings and 26 in the second. Anthony of Newcastle Hi-Tensile picked Australia to win and had the closest prediction of Pietersen's first innings score going for 27. Two cartons of beer on their way.
